

The Armadillo 5 Pillars of EDD

Enhanced Due Diligence

The raft of AML regulation is putting an ever greater workload and risk onto regulated firms. Enhanced Due diligence (EDD) is getting more and more time consuming. Let Armadillo help you in making informed decisions and even add to your revenue.

With the cost of EDD ever increasing, armadillo with its UK Law firm can work with you or your client directly, charging you, or your client separately keeping a high level of confidentiality, both reducing your risk and cost.

From each stage, areas of risk will be highlighted to assist you in deciding whether or not to engage in further Due Diligence, whether you should work (on-board) with the client or if you are happy that they are safe for the level of business you are working with. The cost of reports will only be visible to you; that Armadillo supplied the reports will also only be apparent to you unless we are working directly to assist your client on your request. We are on hand to discuss any element further.

If we work with your client and charge them directly, we will also give you a commission.
